NARRATOR

Once upon a time, two young lovers who walk through Paris, while crossing a bridge were surprised to see that there were many padlocks, an old woman approached them and told them a love story

SCENE I

The young lovers are walking and crossing a bridge. They walk by holding hands. They see each other with deep love. They smile while they walk. There are many tourists walking, sightseeing and taking some pictures.

PATRICK

You know babe?, I have been waiting for this moment since the day I met you...

ROSE

Really?, So have I... Paris is the most beautiful city I have ever been and I just wanted to be here with you, my charming prince...

PATRICK

Oh babe, I love you so much...

ROSE

So do I... By the way, I would like to have a photo of this moment... Let me ask someone...

She sees three guys who are close of them and talk to them

ROSE

Hey guys, could anyone of you take a picture?

JEFF

Yes, of course... Chuck says I'm the best photographer ever, ain't it?

CHUCK

Oh come on Jeff, you are the worst... You do it Erik

ERIK

I will do it, I am a real professional photographer...

The guy takes the picture, shows it to them, smile and then all of them go. Then, the young lovers look at the photo and thank him, then, they both see the padlocks

PATRICK AND ROSE

But, what is that?

An old woman gets close

OLD WOMAN

That, my lovely young guys are padlocks

ROSE

Yes, I can see that but, what are they for?

PATRICK

There could be hundreds of them

Patrick, Rose and the old woman stands aside. While she tells the story, a young couple plays the action.

OLD WOMAN

Many years ago, two young lovers like you, thought that their love would be separated, so the young boy had an idea, he used a chain around his and his fiancée waist and then he put a padlock to avoid being separated, that way, their parents had to accept their love. When the parents realized that they wanted to be together forever, they had to accept that love and they just simply were happily ever after. From that day forward, young lovers come and put a padlock to make sure that they will be together as well.

ROSE

Oh Patrick, what a beautiful story... Do you think that...???

He interrupts her

PATRICK

Yes honey, we will do it as well... As a matter of facts here I have our own padlock...

He takes out the padlock and shows it to her

ROSE

I knew that you were the best man I have ever known and there is no way anybody could separate us...

PATRICK

Nobody will honey, I promise...

They lock their padlock and go. The old woman stays and asks an old man to get closer

OLD WOMAN

Come on honey... I had just tell another beauty couple our never-ending story

OLD MAN

The most beautiful story ever my sweetheart; it shows a pure and eternal love...

They both go walking

THE END
